SPORTS HISTORY...

The Guinness World Book of Records has set the standard as an encyclopedia of the farthest, fastest, highest, lowest and so on.

But an unusual picture book of sports history has reached The Herald. It is called simply "Sports Picture Quiz Book," compiled by John Grafton about 10 major sports.

Use of the pictures is unusual. Captions ask questions about the subjects in the pictures, but go further into related events which compel the reader to know a lot more than just the people in the picture.

Answers are given in the back. The soft-cover book is brought out by Dover Publications, Inc., New York. If you like to sift through all the historic replays of the Ty Cobbs, Babe Ruths, Joe Louises, Triple Crown winners in horseracing and some of the great moments in sports, you'll like this book.

It is the kind of publication which doesn't answer all the questions, like baseball record books full of statistics, but which will start endless discussions about sports.

Construction on the Granger Dam continues at the former Laneport site in Williamson County. And Shell Oil Co. is projecting a $11.2 - millions payroll in a few years in a strip-mining operation in lignite in South Milam County.

It appears the new economy is more than on the horizon. The impact of another major dam in the area and the lignite mining operation should be considerable.

It is without doubt a time for optimism for this area of Texas.

More Funds Asked For San Gabriel Dams

More funding is being asked for work on the Granger Dam and Northfork Dam on the San Gabriel River in Williamson County, with completion dates for the dams being moved up from their original schedules.

The dams are not among the projects President Carter wants to eliminate but Ron Zunker, chief engineer for the San Gabriel River Project says funds to pay contractors for dam work will be exhausted in May.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has requested an additional $9.7 million to be added to this fiscal year's budget of $10.5 million for the two dams.

Zunker said part of the funds requested would also go to other projects in the Fort Worth District of the Corps. "But our district engineer said our request looks favorable," he said.

The Corps should receive Congressional approval before May to transfer funds from other Corps accounts to keep the two dam projects going, said U. S. Rep. J. J. Pickle of Austin.

Completion of the Granger Dam has been moved up from June 1, 1979 to Jan. 1, 1979. The completion date for the Northfork Dam has jumped a year ahead, from May 1979 to May 1978.

The contractors have been working two shifts, six days a week when the weather permits, Zunker said.

Excavation work on the Granger Dam began in 1972 and since then about one mile of the three and one-tenth mile dam has been built. The dam intake structure was completed last summer and the concrete spillway is currently under construction.

The Granger Dam project sprawls over more than 11,000 acres of land surrounding the San Gabriel River east of Granger. The lake will store 37,900 acre feet of water, enough to cover 37,900 acres of land with one foot of water.

Besides the San Gabriel River, the Granger Dam will block Willis and Sore Finger Creeks, which have been diverted by the Corps into the San Gabriel River.

The relocation of parts of FM 971 that will be in the flood control area of the lake will be finished this fall, Zunker said.

For Precinct 1

Constable's Appointment Tabled

Action on appointment of a constable for Precinct 1 in Cameron was tabled for more discussion by county commissioners Monday morning after they heard H.G. (Tommy) Chamberlain's request for appointment to the post.

The elected constable, Maurice Lowrey, resigned effective March 31. County Judge O. B. Harden read a letter of application from Chamberlain and presented a petition signed by about 225 residents of the precinct requesting Chamberlain's appointment to the post.

Commissioner LaVert McKinney said he had heard discussion on leaving the position open, and also had been contacted by people wishing the Chamberlain appointment.

Chamberlain said he was runnerup in the election and felt he should have the appointment. He said it was not for the $125 a month salary, but a desire to serve that prompted his request.

In other business, commissioners voted to advertise for bids for a new front end loader for Precinct 3 to replace an old machine; canvassed county trustee election returns and those for the incorporation of Milam.

They voted to purchase a new high-speed teletype for the sheriff's office at a cost of $1,500. The balance of the $10,000 cost of the machine will be paid by the Criminal Justice Council. The new teletype will be able to transmit 12,000 words a minute and is a hundred times faster than old models.

Court tabled until Thursday a request from a Temple vending machine company to install cold and hot drink machines in the courthouse. It was noted that the cup machines would do away with the bottle problem, but would present a cleaning problem. A representative of the company will meet with commissioners Thursday.

Harden reported that material for the computer handled by Harris Havens and Co., the county's auditors, should be sent in earlier, but in all Ray Harris was "pleased with the work being done."

The judge also reported that Harris disagreed with having a probation department fund and said these monies should be turned into the county treasurer and placed in the general fund.

Harden set up a meeting of the county equalization board for July 20 at the request of Thomas Y. Pickett, Inc., hired by the county to evaluate oil properties and utilities in the county.

hampering new building there.

Holland pointed out that in other studies, it is felt that public health facilities would not be strained in that the new population will reduce the hospital bed ratio only from 6.3/1000 population to 6/1000. This exceeds Texas' 3.5/1000, however, more doctors are needed.

Expansion will be needed in the Rockdale schools, which are now operating at capacity. This expansion, planned by school officials, is expected to be sufficient for handling 250 additional students. Some of the school-age children will attend Cameron schools and thus further reduce the demands placed on Rockdale's system.

Holland noted that Cameron schools are now operating slightly under capacity and officials plan expansion for the elementary grades, the only area needing expansion.

No problems are seen in fire protection, public safety, water systems, and sewerage plants. Since Milam County has a large surplus of electrical power, the report stated, present reserves can easily accommodate 200 more families.

Bill Devereux, Shell public relations manager for mining, said construction of mining facilities will probably start by 1979, with construction of the mine to start in 1981 or 1983. Expected production will be 5 million tons of lignite a year after three years of mine operation. Life of the mine is expected to be 30 years.

Estimated mine employment will be 55 in administration with 330 for the operations. Secondary employment will involve up to 627 as a result of Shell employees living in the county.

The report covering a year of the study by Radian will be followed by a more complete report in October.

Vote Recount Requested For City Election

A committee was appointed by the Cameron city council at a special meeting Monday afternoon to recount ballots in the city election for Place 4.

The recount was requested by Odessa Poole, who lost her bid for a council seat by three votes in the April 2 election. Dale Smith received 292 votes and Poole, 289.

The committee includes Charles Kunz, chairman; Mrs. Shirley Kelley and Mrs. Pauline Friemel. They will meet to count the votes at 9 a.m. Friday at City Hall.

County Watershed Projects Due Review At Carter's Request

At President Carter's request, USDA's Soil Conservation Service is conducting a review of all small watershed projects in Texas under construction or approved for construction. SCS State Conservationist George C. Marks said today.

District Conservationist Don Jones of Cameron said that the Brushy Creek, Donahoe Creek, Elm Creek, and Pond Creek watershed projects in Milam County are now being reviewed by the SCS.

Projects under review include those administered by SCS under Public Law 566, which limits the size of watershed areas to no more than 250,000 acres. The multi-purpose projects always call for land treatment to reduce soil erosion and siltation. They generally include such flood prevention structures as earthen dams and water impoundments. Some projects also provide local people with domestic and industrial water supply, irrigation water, recreation, and fish and wildlife habitat.

Marks said the review will be made in two phases.

The first screening, he said, will be to identify those projects that are unquestionably sound--environmentally, economically, and from the standpoint of structures. This phase is to be completed by April 29.

The SCS official said that projects which do not pass the initial screening will undergo more thorough study, with the process to be completed by June 15. Projects then selected for public hearings will be announced on June 17.

Marks said that any hearings will be held in the vicinity of the projects before July 1. Final recommendations on projects will be provided to the President by July 15.

The state conservationist said projects that pass the initial screening will have to meet the following three criteria:

1. No additional major adverse environmental impacts would result from project completion.

2. The remaining direct benefits exceed remaining direct costs when discounted at a rate of 6-3/8 percent; and

3. No credible question remains to be resolved concerning the safety of project structures.

The Texas review is part of a government wide study of all water resource projects ordered by President Carter. An interagency task force coordinated by the Council on Environmental Quality and the President's Office of Management and Budget developed the criteria.

A total of 77 projects are being reviewed in Texas.

Buckholts School Board Seats New Trustees

The Buckholts school board seated newly-elected trustees Ray Harris, Gladys Allison and Barbara Kuzel at a regular meeting Monday.

A. W. Zajicek Jr. was re-elected president and Edwin Lehmann vice president with Allison as secretary.

Among items on the agenda was approval of: regulations for public use of the ballfield; participation in the Region 6 Service Center; and the senior trip to Corpus Christi.

The school calendar for 1977-78 was approved with classes starting August 18 and dismissing May 25.

Countywide Meeting To Discuss Beef Proposal

By John E. Snell

A countywide meeting about the proposed Beef Research & Information Act has been called for 7:30 p.m. April 18 in the district courtroom in Cameron by Morris Coward, chairman of the Milam County Beef Development Task Force.

Details about the upcoming beef referendum will be explained, the chairman has announced.

The educational program, which is designed for all beef and dairy cattle owners of the county, will include two slide presentations about the Beef Research & Information Act--one prepared by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service--and the second by the Beef Development Task Force. There will be a period for questions and comments from producers.

Additionally, the BDT chairman, County Extension Agents John Snell, Bill McCutchen, and Extension Beef specialist Dr. John Spitzer, will provide more detailed information about the forthcoming beef referendum.

The Beef Research & Information Act serves as enabling legislation and authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to conduct a referendum among beef producers to determine whether they want a beef development plan, developed by an industry-wide committee.

"The beef development plan is a proposed national checkoff program that would be financed by assessment as spelled out in the beef marketing order. If approved, the plan would provide some $30 to $40 million per year for beef research, consumer and producer information, promotion and market development," explains Co-

Expenditures, he added, would be directed by a 68 member board of cattlemen and representative of livestock organizations.

To be eligible to participate in the beef referendum, beef and dairy cattle owners need to make two trips to their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation offices: the first trip to register, and the second to vote.

TP&L Manager Issues Warning On 'Wiring Check'

Larry Morrow, manager for Texas Power & Light Company, today warned area residents to beware of a man "checking wiring" in residences.

Morrow said that a man told an area resident that he would check the wiring in her home to make sure that everything was in order. The home owner let the man check the light switches and then was told that a charge of $8 would be levied for the work done. The home owner refused to pay and called the Milam County Sheriff's Department.

Morrow said that TP&L does not inspect wiring, nor does it engage in home electrical repair.

He added that if anyone is approached in such a manner and the person's identification is questionable, to either notify the TP&L Company office or the Milam County Sheriff's Department.

Limiting Time To Please Or Serve . . .

It seems an appropriate time to recommend that Milam County consider some kind of merit system for its employees and elected officials and a recommended retirement age of 65 and a mandatory retirement age of 70 regardless of health.

Senior public servants' experience need not be lost to city, schools or county, state or nation, for that matter. In the mold of a federal retired executives organization, former public officials, if retiring or defeated and still mentally alert, can give counsel to younger office holders, appointees or salaried public employees.

There are a lot of things that experience can assist, more effectively from the sidelines than on an active duty more physically challenging everyday in the mid-60s.

The military services, state and federal civil service, most business retirement programs begin at 65, many considerably younger these days. This may be a means to opening up more jobs, but longer life, healthier older age may be cut off in still productive years. Milam County in 1976 chose younger men in two county races when age was a real factor in only one, that of former Sheriff Carl Black. Since, District Clerk Grady Allen has announced retirement plans. Times change and years advance. We commend Mr. Allen for recognizing this.

It is not a question easily left up to the office holder or public employee. If he is able, he may stay on until he is unable to do the job, but continues in favor because he has avoided alienating either the public or those who employ him. He may be better at pleasing the public than serving it.

A lot of problems and a lot of controversy are easily avoided by statutory limitation on age and strict requirements on physical examinations. None of this is new to government or private employment. It is standard.

An incumbent should not be compelled to stand because he sees it a matter of honor to defend his record. He should be relieved of that subjective decision and public responsibility by standard retirement procedures.

The Need For Print . . .

Yoe High School still has no school paper. It was killed some years ago after publishing criticism of school lunches.

Buckholts High School has a school paper which continues to receive state recognition for mimeographed publications of its size.

Why YHS fails to give its journalism students the experience of print is beyond us. If it is cost, administrators should consider the pointlessness of writing material that is never published. It is like a speech that is never spoken, never heard by others.

If ever YHS or other area high schools put new publications into print, they might consider this:

Christopher B. Fager, director of the Student Press Law Center, believes high school journalists are taught self-censorship in most schools.

"They are taught to confine their expression to the bland, the non-controversial. Not surprisingly, they are taught to censor themselves," Fager writes.

Fager criticizes the professional press for allowing this to stilt basic attitudes of potential journalists. Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart says "the vigilant protection of constitutional freedoms is nowhere more vital than in the community of American schools."

But school officials continue to censor, suggesting they protect the school paper from libel suits.

Fager says "the reality is that there are no reported cases of libel verdicts against school newspapers."

Finance Bill Moves To Governor

A $528 million finance bill — most monumental achievement of the legislature to date — finally wound its way through the legislature and moved to the governor's desk.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who tagged the measure an emergency and plugged for it in both houses, applauded passage and promptly scheduled signing ceremonies this week.

The bill was deadlocked for six weeks in Senate sub-committee after Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby insisted the $674 million House version was excessive.

After Hobby engineered a compromise on a $428 million bill with a built-in inflation-adjusting mechanism to take care of future needs, new trouble developed in the Senate.

Briscoe held out for another $100 million to repair weather-damaged roads, and Hobby agreed.

Several senators, including A. R. Schwartz of Galveston and Lloyd Doggett of Austin, who weren't too keen on the highway department getting first crack at a big bundle of money, waged a battle against the compromise in the Senate. Schwartz was particularly irate about addition of the last $100 million.

Schwartz and Doggett claimed commitment of the additional revenue to highways killed a $258 million tax cut passed by the House. Hobby agreed there is now no chance for elimination of the state sales tax in utility bills, but Briscoe insisted the levy can still be taken off.

Over a 20 year period, the compromise bill will provide more money for highway building than the original House version. Briscoe had requested about $825 million in his initial recommendations for additional highway funding.

Session Speeding

The legislature, following an Easter recess, shifted gears for the final month and a half of the 65th session.

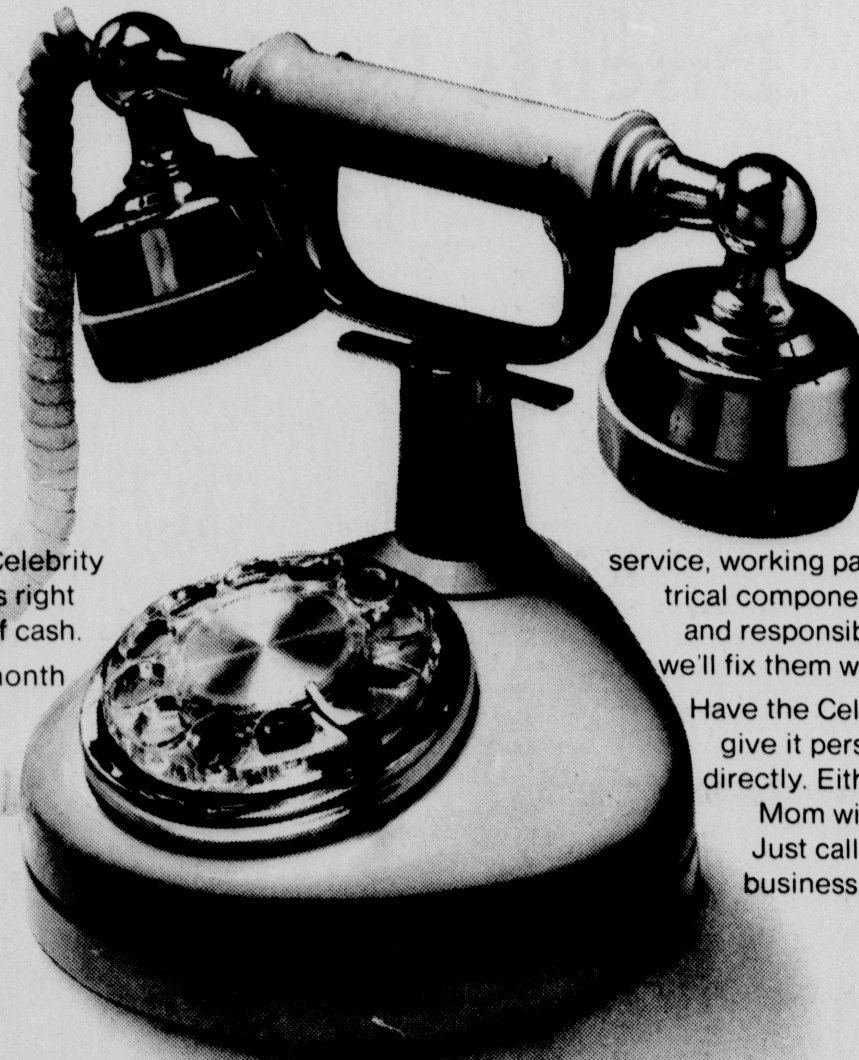

Major business — including school finance legislation and a $15.6 billion general appropriations bill for 1978-79 — awaited the House this week. The governor tagged school finance as an emergency.

The Senate may see its Finance Committee's budget bill next week and its Education Committee's school funding proposals soon thereafter.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Field Day To Teach Pecan Grafting Methods

By Bill McCutchen

Anyone interested in pecan propagation methods and techniques is invited to participate in a Field Day April 14 at 5:30 p.m. at Anton Anderle's pecan bottom. The orchard is located on the east side of highway 77 about halfway between the highway 77 and 36 intersection and Minerva.

Dr. George Ray McEachern, Extension horticulturist and I will demonstrate the in lay graft techniques and patch budding of pecans. Those in attendance wishing to try these techniques will have a chance to do so.

Other topics of discussion will include pecan orchard management, spray schedules, and adaptable pecan varieties.

The 5:30 p.m. meeting is scheduled at this time to accommodate 8-5 working people who might wish to attend the session.

In my 15 years of pecan propagation work, I have found that women and teenagers make excellent propagators and we would invite you to feel free to attend and participate.

REFERENDUM MEETING

A meeting to discuss the pros and cons of the forthcoming Beef Cattle Referendum is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the district Courtroom in Cameron.

The Texas Agricultural

Extension Service's position on the referendum is one of education only. We hope to provide information on the referendum so that all cattlemen can vote knowledgeably.

Anyone owning cattle during the past 12 months period will be eligible to vote. For the referendum to pass 50 percent of those who register must vote and two-thirds of those voting must vote yes to pass it.

Registration and voting will be on a walk-in basis at the ASCS County Offices with exception of absentee landowners and those that will be absent from the county during the voting period. Registration and voting dates have not been set as yet. Registration is expected to be in May of 1977 and voting is expected to be in June of 1977.

Further information is expected by the April 18 meeting date in Cameron. Make plans to attend and express your ideas and questions on the referendum.

Farm Leaders Meet With President Carter

National Farmers Union officials from 22 states had a wide-ranging 80-minute discussion late Tuesday afternoon at the White House in which the farm group leaders indicated the "dismay" of the nation's farmers with farm commodity support rates established for 1977 and proposed for 1978.

President Jimmy Carter spent 50 minutes with the Farmers Union presidents, including Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco.

The discussion included Vice President Walter Mondale and Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland. "I thought it was a worthwhile meeting," said TFU President Naman.

"The President expressed concern at the negative reaction from farmers to his proposed farm program." "From the campaign assurances, farmers expected that support protection at the cost of production meant the full cost of production. What we have gotten so far is an almost straight-line extension of the Butz support levels," National President of the Farmers Union Tony Dechant said. "On top of that we are being nickel-and-dimed in the budget process."

President Carter said that "for the future we would like to have a stable agriculture with an aggressive export capability."

The President noted Monday's increases in support levels for 1977 and the recommended levels for the four-year farm bill and said he regarded them as "better than the Butz figures."

Carter said that the support levels would be reviewed, but gave no indication of when changes might be made. "There will be adjustments as we find them possible," he said.

The President asked the Farmers Union leaders to keep in close and frequent consultation with him and the Department of Agriculture.

"We trust your judgment and need your advice even if we cannot entirely agree," he said. "We're approachable."

Off To A Good Start... Watch For These... Water Report Due Soon.

The program to eradicate the screwworm for Texas this year is off to a good start. Less than a half dozen cases have been confirmed this year.

Officials at the fly plant in Mission say they are pleased with the cooperation being shown by livestock producers throughout the state.

They urge continued cooperation and vigilance so that the pest can be "done in" once and for all this year. The number of samples being sent to Mission has been on the increase in recent weeks, officials said, and this indicates that producers are doing their part in the total eradication effort.

There's also good news from Mexico, too. That program is also progressing well, and a new distribution center is to be dedicated there April 26.

About 400 million sterile screwworm flies are being dispersed in northern Mexico and the southern part of Texas as part of the program to wipe out infestations.

All livestock producers should continue to check their animals regularly, treat wounds with approved screwworm-control remedies, delay surgery as long as possible, and submit suspected samples to the fly lab at Mission.

Agent Explains Financing Plan

Financing plans for the proposed Beef Research and Information Program have been tentatively outlined, announces John Snell, County Extension Agent. The Act is Public Law 94-294, and is enabling legislation similar to that for wheat, potatoes cotton and eggs.

"Funds would come from assessments on producers' receipts from sales of cattle," he explained.

The law sets a maximum check-off assessment rate of one-half of one percent of the live animal value, but for the first three years, the rate has been set at 3/10 of one percent. The funds would be collected according to a "value-added concept," which would assess all sellers in the marketing chain. The concept is similar to that of "pencil shrink."

However, emphasized the Extension agent, sales of breeding cattle may be exempt until the animals are sold for slaughter.

The initial purchaser in the marketing chain would deduct the amount of assessment from his payment to the original owner. Each succeeding purchaser would deduct an assessment based on the current market value, representing an amount equal to the previous assessment plus an added assessment resulting from the animal's increases value during the seller's period of ownership.

The purchaser at the point of slaughter would remit the assessment to the Beef Board, as proposed in the Act. Consequently, packers would be responsible for maintaining records of the transactions, deducting the assessment from the sale of the animal and forwarding the money to the Beef Board.

Provisions of the Act also allow for producers not wishing to participate in the program to request and receive a refund upon application to the Beef Board. To qualify for this refund, however, the request must be made in writing and sent - along with a copy of the sales slip - within a 60-day period after the end of the month in which the assessment was paid.

77 Onion Crop 'Crying Shame'

AUSTIN--The 1977 spring onion crop will most likely have everyone in tears - both the consumer and the producer - since this year's harvest will be almost half that of 1976, according to reports from the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Cool, wet weather throughout the winter months have slowed crop development and normal cultivation for weed control, and have slashed yields in the Lower Valley, Laredo, and San Antonio Winter Garden areas. This year's crop, which should go on the market this week, is the smallest since 1966.

A total of five million 50-pound sacks are to be harvested, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, compared to 9.7 million sacks last year. Prices are already reflecting the shortages, with jumbo onions selling for $18 per 50-pound sack and $14 to $15 for medium onions.

Brown Takes Over Ag Department

AUSTIN--Reagan V. Brown of Bryan has been named the seventh Texas Commissioner of Agriculture since the position was initiated in 1907.

Brown was appointed by Governor Dolph Briscoe to serve out the remaining term of John C. White, recently named U.S. Deputy Secretary of Agriculture to the Carter cabinet.

A popular public speaker throughout the state, Brown has been a special assistant for agriculture and rural development on Briscoe's staff since March, 1974. He has been in charge of rural development and agricultural programs and has been involved with industrial and job creation programs.

Bringing his knowledge of agriculture from nearly 30 years with the Texas A&M Agricultural Extension Service, Brown has pledged his efforts to see Texas the number one agricultural producer in the nation.

In accepting the nomination, Brown included energy, water, cattle prices and soil depletion among the major agricultural problems being faced in the state today. He also stressed the need to keep Texas farming and ranching profitable.

The new commissioner holds masters' degrees in rural sociology and educational psychology. For many years he was in charge of community improvement with the Extension Service and has served as county agent in three counties.

During his service at Texas A&M, he organized 1,000 rural community improvement programs and was named "Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture" by the Progressive Farmer magazine in 1968.

NEW COMMISSIONER--Reagan V. Brown has been sworn in as the seventh Texas Commissioner of Agriculture. Brown, a special assistant for agriculture and rural development on Governor Dolph Briscoe's staff, is from Bryan.

Sheep Feeding Decline Shown

AUSTIN--A drastic 20 per cent decrease in the number of Texas sheep and lambs on feed since the first of the year has been reported by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

In spite of the drop to 128,000 head, the state's operators are still feeding some five per cent more animals than a year ago, according to a report issued by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Markets Offering Beef Specials

Many Texas grocery markets are offering specials on beef -- as prices remain stable -- to slightly higher in general, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, reports.

Most-often featured cuts -- which offer a savings -- are chuck roasts and steaks, round, sirloin, rib and T-bone steaks, boneless roasts and ground beef, she said.

Pork specials also are available -- with emphasis on loin roasts, quarter loins cut into chops, Boston butt roasts, smoked picnics, bacon, sausage and liver.

At poultry counters, turkey prices are stable and fryer chickens are in good supply -- offering one of the best protein choices, price-wise, Mrs. Clyatt said.

She advised consumers to buy fryers now -- if home freezer space is available -- for the cookout season later.

At fresh vegetable counters, potato prices are relatively low -- while carrots, broccoli, mustard, collards, head lettuce and turnips and greens have economical prices. Onions, however, show a price increase due to a reduced supply.

At fruit counters, grapefruit and oranges are the highlight -- with medium to small sizes the lower priced. Also, pineapples are specialized at some markets.

Insurance Rates Cut For Farmers

AUSTIN
Fire and other property insurance coverage for farm and ranch buildings will generally decrease in cost beginning this summer, State Board of Insurance Chairman Joe Christie announced.

The Board's new property insurance rates, which will take effect July 1, will cut rates paid by farmers and ranchers for fire insurance by 17.5 percent and rates for extended coverage insurance by amounts ranging from 8.4 percent to 12.3 percent.

Farm and Ranch Owners insurance, which provides a package of coverage including fire, extended coverage, personal liability, medical payments and theft, will cost 1 percent more in some areas of the state and will be reduced up to 3.5 percent in other areas.

Bellringers To Collect For MHA

"There is a large, metal bell, at our national office, which was cast from the shackles and handcuffs that once bound mentally and emotionally disturbed people," said Shirley Camfield, president of the Mental Health Association in Texas.

"This bell is now a symbol for the Mental Health Association, ringing out hope for the mentally ill and victory over mental illness," she added.

During May, Mental Health Month, Bellringers will be collecting to help the association continue its work.

Mrs. Larry Morrow is coordinating the campaign in Cameron.

The association's logo, used in conjunction with the slogan "Citizens Who Do Make A Difference" stresses strength through unity, while making full allowance for individual differences.

The logo depicts a group of people standing with hands joined, forming an unbroken circle. In the center is the Mental Health Bell.

CWS Gives Blankets For Needy

More than 272,000 blankets were distributed by Church World Service during 1976 to refugees and disaster victims, according to the Texas CROP Office which administers the CWS Clothing Appeal in the Lone Star State.

Texans, primarily through Church Women United groups, provided 1,500 blankets of the total.

This year, Texans are being asked to raise $10,000 with which Church World Service will purchase 2,500 blankets. CWS buys in bulk, securing a warm Army-type blanket at a cost of $4 each.

The Texas CROP Committee chose May 8, 1977 -- Mother's Day -- as this year's Blanket Sunday.

Last year's blanket exports included these shipments for refugee relief: 10,000 to Jordan, 15,700 to Israel, and 13,417 to Portugal (for distribution to refugees from Angola).

Earthquake victims in Guatemala received 23,000 blankets.

Other shipments included 11,000 to Brazil, 30,000 to India, and 25,000 to the sub-Saharan country of Niger.

Information and materials for the 1977 Blanket Sunday are available from Texas CROP, P. O. Box 4700, Austin, Texas 78765.

Whooping Crane Heading North

Whooping cranes, among the rarest of North American birds, are preparing to leave their wintering grounds at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge along the Gulf Coast, on their way back to Canadian nesting grounds.

"Whooping cranes arrive in Texas in mid-October and remain in the state until mid-April. The flock is awaiting favorable wind conditions for the flight to their nesting grounds in Wood Buffalo National Park in northwestern Canada," said Dr. Hal Irby, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department migratory game program director.

The 69 birds that wintered at Aransas included 12 hatched this past summer. The endangered whoopers, known for their bugling call that carry more than two miles, are among the tallest native birds found north of Mexico, standing almost five feet and weighing 16 pounds. Although the female is slightly smaller, both have almost identical plumage.

"We are asking birders, sportsmen and others interested in wildlife to aid us by reporting exact information on where whoopers stop to rest on their way out of state," Irby said.

Usually, birds leaving Aransas fly in a northwesterly direction through north-central Texas, into the Panhandle and then out of state.

"We are not certain whoopers stop anywhere in Texas after leaving the Refuge area, but if they do, it is important that conservation agencies know about it so as to be able to protect critical migration habitat locations. Spotters in Texas as well as in midwestern states provide much information between late-March through early June, when the birds head north," said Irby.

Observers who sight cranes are asked to record exact time, date, location, what the birds were doing (feeding, resting, flying) and report it immediately to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's wildlife division in Austin.

"The problem remains that the birds are very wary while on the ground. They will not allow you to get close to them, so they are usually spotted from a great distance, which makes positive identification difficult," he added.

Before recovery efforts began, the whooper population reached a low of 15 birds on the Texas wintering grounds and six in Louisiana. The refuge was acquired by the federal government's Fish and Wildlife Service in 1937 in an initial effort to prevent the extinction of this stately bird.

New Act Governs Public Water

Both public and private water systems will soon be subject to new regulations, says a resource development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Effective June 24, the Texas Department of Health Resources will begin enforcing the National Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974. "The Act provides for the safety of drinking water supplies throughout the United States through establishment and enforcement of national drinking water standards," points out Jack C. Jones.

Any public water systems, whether privately or publicly owned, that serve 25 or more persons or that have at least 15 service connections and that are used at least 60 days during the year will be subject to the new standards, explains the Extension specialist. This will include campgrounds and other public accommodations that serve tourists and special groups for a limited time each year.

What are the major effects of the legislation?

"All water systems will have to submit monthly water samples to the Texas Department of Health Resources for chemical and bacteriological analysis," points out Jones. "Each system must also be operated by a state certified water operator. Failure to comply can result in fines and closing of the water supply system."

Tetanus Spores Lurk In Dirt

With the advent of the spring season of 1977 most of us are beginning to get out of doors again. There are gardens and lawns that need work and outdoor chores of all sorts that have accumulated during the winter.

With the return of outdoor activities comes once again the hazard of minor accidents, cuts and scratches. Most often these aren't serious and will heal quickly if properly cleaned and protected.

The American Medical Association cautions that sometimes these scratches can be more serious. Sometimes they are the channel through which you could get tetanus, commonly called lockjaw.

Tetanus-producing spores lie dormant in the soil of your garden, the dirt of your garage. These spores can infect you through the tiniest wound—a pin scratch, a bee sting or a small cut.

Tetanus spores may remain in your body for long periods without producing the disease. Or, they may produce poison effects in five to fourteen days, even though the wound has healed.

First signs of tetanus are irritability and restlessness. Muscles rapidly become rigid, eventually causing a clenched-jaw leer that gives tetanus the popular name of lockjaw.

When symptoms appear, the outlook is grim, even with the best treatment. To avoid the deadly consequences, be sure you and your family are immunized with tetanus toxoid. When you are immunized, your body manufactures antibodies that will fight tetanus. A booster is needed every ten years.

If you aren't protected, in an emergency there is no time for immunization. If you have no built-in immunity, your physician may inject tetanus antitoxin. An emergency shot, however, is not always effective.

Your only long-range guarantee against tetanus is immunization with tetanus toxoid. Only one of every four Americans has this protection.

White House Explains Reorganization Plans

Congress has adopted, and the President has signed, legislation which restores the President's power to submit reorganization plans to the Congress. Under that authority, plans submitted by the President will automatically become effective after Congress has been in continuous session for sixty calendar days, unless either House adopts a resolution opposing the plan.

This background report discusses government reorganization from this point on.

Q: Why should the Carter Administration's reorganization plans succeed where others have failed?

A: The history of reorganization shows that one reason past efforts failed was because plans were developed in a political vacuum—without adequate consultation with Congress, affected interest groups, agency personnel, state and local governments, and the public. The Administration's approach will avoid this by establishment of a President's Reorganization Advisory Group, which will conduct public awareness and participation programs and involve Congress, interest groups, and government units throughout. This should avoid any possibility that these groups might be taken by surprise on reorganization plans. They will be asked to contribute their input to the development of the plans.

Q: During the campaign the President said there are about 1900 federal agencies and that reorganization would reduce that total to 200. Do those figures still stand?

A: The 1900 total was the best estimate at the time. Since the election, the Administration has compiled a list of organizational units in the executive branch, and the final target number of reorganization is yet to be determined.

Q: What agency will do the daily work on reorganization and why?

A: This will be the responsibility of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). This assures that the effort will have a strong institutional base for four years. Previous, unsuccessful, reorganization plans did not have such a base. The arrangement also provides a natural link between budget and organizational changes, and provides a core staff to help.

Q: Where will reorganization start? What is the timetable?

A: The President has first ordered a review of his own household—the Executive Office. He also has identified these areas for early action: energy, oil spill pollution control, consumer affairs, civil rights, and advisory committees.

President Carter will not present a grand design to Congress all at once. There are no master lists nor hidden agenda. The reorganization effort will proceed first with the naming of an organization studies staff to be grouped into six functional areas—national security, human resources, economic development, natural resources and energy, regulatory reform, and general government.

Q: Will the reorganization project affect the jobs of federal employees? Will it affect the Civil Service system?

A: Career employees have been assured that no one will lose a job or be forced to take a cut in salary or grade as a result of reorganization. When reductions in positions are necessary they will be accomplished through the normal 10 percent annual attrition rate of the Federal Government. The reorganization project will conduct a major study of the Civil Service system because it is felt that effective management of Federal programs is not possible if rigidities of the existing system go unchallenged.

Q: The reorganization legislation does not permit the President to propose the abolishment of Departments or independent regulatory commissions. Does this mean they will be excluded from the studies?

A: No. The authority signed into law is only one tool available. The President anticipates going to Congress with specific legislative proposals if they are needed, such as the proposal that was submitted to establish a Department of Energy, now being considered on Capitol Hill.

Q: Will zero-based budgeting concepts be included in the studies, and how much will the studies cost?

A: Zero-based budgeting concepts will be applied in the reorganization studies. The President believes that this concept will help simplify the structure of government and eliminate unneeded and unproductive programs. The Administration has requested from Congress a supplemental appropriation of $1.6 million for FY 1977, and expects to hire 32 temporary employees. The requested budget for reorganization studies in FY 1978 is $2.6 million.

Q: The Act passed by Congress gives the President authority to propose to Congress reorganization plans that will take effect 60 days later unless rejected by either the House or Senate. Isn't 60 days a short time for Congressional review?

A: True, the normal time period is 60 days, but the President does not plan to send up a plan without extensive advance consultation with the Congress and all affected parties.

Recycling Record Set For Aluminum Cans

A record 1.61 billion used aluminum beverage cans—more than seven containers for every U.S. citizen—were collected and recycled by Aluminum Company of America during 1976, according to F.P. Bergeron, Alcoa Texas area manager.

Seventy million pounds of aluminum were recovered for reuse and the public received $10.5 million for returning the cans during 1976. The highest collection month was August, when Alcoa received over 190 million aluminum beverage cans returned by consumers for reclamation.

"Alcoa received 1.45 billion cans for recycling in 1975 and will reach for two billion cans in 1977," Bergeron said. "We've improved our recycling efficiency and technology tremendously since Alcoa began reclaiming cans in 1970. And we've recently raised our price paid to can collectors from 15 cents to 17 cents a pound to better reflect the value of this resource to Alcoa."

"Aluminum beverage can recycling is no fad. Consumers are clearly signaling their intention to save a valuable resource and keep the environment free of litter. Voluntary recycling has become a vital and important national activity, with cans being recovered by aluminum companies, beer distributors, scrap dealers, consumers and municipalities in nearly every state. Alcoa wants to recycle aluminum and we're willing to pay people to help close the loop from recycled cans to used metal for new cans."

Alcoa and other aluminum companies reclaimed more than one of every four all-aluminum beverage containers sold. Recycling aluminum saves 95 percent of the energy needed to produce metal from ore, Bergeron explained.

25-YEAR CLUB-Jarrell Edmonds of Cameron has been inducted into the Alcoa 25-Year Club at Alcoa's Rockdale Works. Edmonds is a guard at the Rockdale plant.

Instrument of Death

Can you imagine the electric chair or the gallows being thought of as a symbol of life? Every day we see the Cross; but only on Good Friday do we remember it was once an instrument of execution.

This tremendous reversal in the meaning and implication of a device of torture and destruction bears simple witness to the profound effect the Resurrection of Christ has had on human culture.

Yet the thrust of the dramatic events that led to that first Easter is aimed not at culture but at YOU and ME. Christians believe Jesus died and rose again for US.

Celebrate Easter with all who share this joyous belief. The Lord made the Cross a symbol of His life — an inspiration for ours.

Milano FHA Hike-Bike For Handicapped

Approximately 40 Future Homemakers of America participated in the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens Hike-Bike last Saturday. It began at the Milano High School and ended in Gause.

Participants will finish collecting their pledges this week and the final amount of money raised in the benefit ride will be determined then.

Pledges were taken from local businesses and citizens of the area. Seventy percent of the money will go to the Milano County Association for Retarded Citizens in Rockdale and the remaining thirty percent to the state organization.

Refreshments were furnished along the way by the Milano Young Homemakers. Johnny Barrett of Cameron donated soft drinks.

Several people along the way donated their homes for rest stops.

Washington County residents will be greeting many visitors from throughout Texas at the seventh Heritage Tour of Washington County, to be held April 23 and 24.

The tour will feature twelve historic sites in Brenham and Independence.

Tour headquarters, at Firemen's Park, 903 N. Park (Business 36) in Brenham, will open at 10 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday for visitors to purchase tour tickets.

The 19th century hand-carved wooden carousel in the park will give rides to young and old alike. The carousel is one of only 300 such operating in the United States. A continuous musical program will add to the entertainment in the park.

The homes on the tour will give visitors the opportunity to see residences built across a wide span of Texas history. The oldest home on the tour is the Judge John P. Coles House in Independence, built in 1824 by one of the original 300 settlers in Texas. The Adreas Home was built in 1900 as the Lutheran Teacherage, the residence for the professors of the Lutheran College. It is the only college building still standing.

Three churches will also be tour sites: The First Christian Church, the Presbyterian Church, and St.

John's Lutheran Church--prairie Hill. All are celebrating their centennial in 1977 and will feature displays highlighting the histories of their congregations.

Mixing and matching separates can create many new ensembles -- without spending a fortune. Marlene Odle, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

Begin by selecting garments in classical styling with a common color theme and fabric types, she advised.

"A basic separates wardrobe for summer could start with a polyester / cotton seersucker blazer, plain pullover T-shirt, wrapped skirt, and vest. Add tucked-in front straight-leg pants, Bermuda shorts, striped shirt and a hooded blouson sweatshirt jacket. For dressier occasions, choose a 'fun' sundress that can double as a jumper.

Personal Mention

Eloise Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Henderson Jr. of Cameron, will participate as a duchess in the Neches River Festival in Beaumont this weekend. Activities will include teas, a ball, and a pageant.

Senior Party Planned

Friends Of The Library

More than 100 youngsters with Easter baskets participated in an Easter egg Rolling Party last Tuesday afternoon on the lawn at the library. The party was sponsored by the Cameron friends of the Library Association.

After the hunt, Mrs. Vernon Deitrich moved the group inside the library and told Easter stories.

The Fleur de lis Garden club served refreshments. Because of the enthusiasm the association voted to make the hunt an annual event.

Brazos River Festival To Open In Waco

The Waco Cotton Palace Pageant, April 22 at 8 p.m. in Waco Hall on the Baylor Campus will officially open the twelfth annual Brazos River Festival and Pilgrimage.

A reminder of tradition and heritage, the pageant will be a production on song, dance and drama portraying the history of Waco from its founding on the banks of the Brazos River to the present.

King Cotton will be featured in the 1977 show since Waco was the "Cotton Capital" of the world in the late 1800's and played a major role in the development of the town.

The Pageant is composed of interested Waco citizens authentically dressed in costumes to depict the early settlement, Chisolm Trail, Confederate Ball, Dedication of the Suspension Bridge and a Cameron Park scene.

Highlighting the evening is the coronation of the King and Queen of the Cotton Palace.

Royal Court includes Waco Princesses and Duchesses from cities in Texas and other states wearing turn of the century fashioned gowns with an hourglass silhouette.

A royal reception will be held in the Barfield Drawing Room in the Student Union building at Baylor immediately following the Pageant.

The Historic Pageant is a recreation of Texas Cotton Palace founded in 1894.

Tickets for the Pageant are $2 to $7 and available by writing Mrs. Gano Winter, 415 North 23rd st., Waco, Texas, 76707 or calling 817-754-4073. Include a self-addressed stamped envelope with written requests.

JOE REYES rounds third and heads for home to score for the Yoemen. Reyes, a pitcher for the Yoemen, tossed his first no hitter of the '77 season in the Yoemen's bout against the Caldwell Hornets. Reyes is also the leading batter for the season holding a .365 average.

Yoe Baseballers Drop Hornets 5-0

The Cameron Yoemen baseballers traveled to Caldwell last week to take on and defeat the Hornets of Caldwell in district action 5-0.

Joe Reyes took the win for the Yoemen, tossing his first no hitter of the season, and walking only one batter. The Yoemen had two hits and five runs for the day, with their only error came in the bottom of the seventh.

Coach Roy Knight cited four Yoemen standouts for the game with Caldwell, Donald Komar, Mike Barr, and Ronnie Orsag, all of which aided the Yoemen offensive attack and Joe Reyes for his no hitter from the mound.

At the close of the game three Yoemen headed the list of batting averages for the season. Joe Reyes leads the Yoemen batting with .365, Mike Barr follows closely with a .289 and Ronnie Orsag is third on the list with a .266.

In other baseball action the Yoemen were host to the Elgin Wildcats on Tuesday April 5, dropping to the Wildcats 4-3.

The Wildcats of Elgin were ready to do battle as they jumped ahead of the Yoemen 2-0 before the Yoemen could retaliate.

The Yoemen brought their offense together by the bottom of the third inning, to score two runs and tie the ball game.

Elgin managed to get one point in the fourth and sixth innings to wrap up the game.

The Yoemen had another chance to tie the ball game up as they scored one run in the sixth inning and at the bottom of the seventh had a runner at first and third, but failed to get the tying score across.

Coach Knight cited Mike Barr as the Yoemen offensive standout, as Barr went 3-3 at the plate. Knight also said "We played a good ballgame but just couldn't get that final run across the plate. We're not out of the district race, but the loss puts us in a must win situation."

The Yoemen ended the day with nine base hits while the Wildcats tallied only eight base hits, with four runs to the Yoemen's three.

RECORD WHITE-David S. Cordill, an Austin area angler, caught the new state record white bass on the Colorado River below Longhorn Dam, a five-pound, nine-ounce fish that was 20 3/4 inches long and had a 17 inch girth. If certified, the catch will surpass the current world record white bass.

Young Baseball Players Risk Permanent Injury

Young baseball players, especially pitchers, may be risking permanent injury if they play too hard, the Texas Medical Association says.

An immature boy or girl who pitches too frequently runs the risk of doing lasting damage to his or her shoulder and elbow. The elbow joint is particularly vulnerable between the ages of 9 and 16 since the growing ends of the long bones which meet at the elbow are still not completely fused to the bone shafts and cannot withstand the strenuous muscle pull involved in pitching.

Any adult pitcher is likely to have a sore arm after a game, but such a disorder is essentially a muscle-tendon strain with no crippling implications.

If youngsters were left to themselves, they would probably regulate their play activity in a self-protective way. They would be unlikely to practice for hours on end to perfect their techniques, and they could be expected to quit when they were tired.

Ironically, it is some parents' and coaches' activity in children's baseball that has increased the risks to young players. Some adults become so involved with winning games that they put pressure on the youngsters to practice endlessly and to aim for victory at all costs.

In the face of this pressure, the young player tends to push him or herself beyond healthy levels of endurance and hesitates to complain of pain. The result is that bone disorders are neglected and some young players end their careers with irreversible bone damage.

To put the fun back in the game and decrease injuries some authorities suggest:

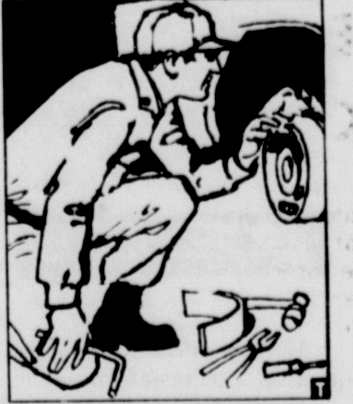

--restricting the amount of pitching time per player to about two innings per week for Little League and three for Pony League age players and discouraging excessive practicing;

--encouraging pitchers to report shoulder or elbow pain immediately. He or she should not throw if any pain is experienced.

--abolishing the curve ball (and the slider and screw ball). They take excessive throwing practice to perfect and place a lot of strain on the elbow;

--abolishing sliding into bases. Many playing fields are in poor condition, and youngsters often are not properly coached in sliding techniques so they break legs.

European Art Masterpieces On View At Waco Center

An exhibition of European masterpieces from the 14th through 18th centuries will be on view at The Art Center in Waco from March 26 through May 8.

"Old Master Paintings from the Blaffer Collection" is on loan to the Center from the Sarah Campbell Blaffer Gallery at the University of Houston.

All of the paintings in the exhibition come from the private collection of the late Sarah Campbell Blaffer, heiress to Texaco and Exxon fortunes.

When Mrs. Blaffer died in 1975 at the age of 91, she left one of the state's finest art collections. The touring exhibition, organized by the Blaffer Gallery that now houses the collection, is a fulfillment of her wish to bring great art to persons who might not otherwise see it.

The twenty paintings in the exhibition represent major periods in the development of Western art. Several examples from the Italian Renaissance will be on view. Among them are works by Florentine master Piero di Cosima and Andrea Mantegna, one of the great geniuses of that time. A 16th century portrait by Lucas Cranach is representative of secular portraits by Murillo are among the Spanish masterpieces included in the collection. From the post Renaissance era is Ruben's Mystical Marriage of St. Catherine. French, Italian, and English paintings from the 17th and 18th centuries will also be shown.

The Art Center is located at 1300 College Drive on the McLennan Community College campus. The Center is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday. There is no admission fee.

The Lonely Heart

Every Pound Of Cotton Bale Useful

AUSTIN—From start to finish, every step in cotton processing adds value to the completed product long after the farmer has received his share for growing the crop.

"And except for waste and 'tare' (bagging and metal ties), all of the original bale of cotton ends up in three major uses - apparel, household, and industrial," according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

When it first shows up at the mill, a bale of raw cotton tips the scales at an average of 500 lbs., 20 lbs. of which are tare.

An additional 24 lbs. are non-lint waste like dust and vegetable matter, while another 29 lbs. are waste produced in the first steps of the yarn production process.

"The 29 lbs. of usable waste are sold mostly to the textile waste industry and eventually end up as padding and upholstery filling," White explained.

The bale, now down to 427 lbs., will be spun into yarns, roughly 76 lbs. for knit goods, nine lbs. for sewing thread, three lbs. for carpet and tufting yarns, and seven lbs. for specialty yarns.

The price of electricity must continue to go up.

Texas Power & Light wants its customers to know why.

Providing dependable electric service at a fair price.

This has been a constant aim of Texas Power & Light Company since it began operation in 1912. We have a good record of accomplishment.

We've kept pace with an ever-growing need for electricity and twelve times in our 65-year history we've reduced the price. The average price of each kilowatt-hour of electricity supplied to residential customers in 1976 was about the same as it was in 1956.

The dollar amount of customers' bills increased in this 20-year period because average annual usage of electricity increased...more than four and a half times greater in 1976 than in 1956. In the early 1970's, the costs of producing and supplying electricity began to go up at an unprecedented rate.

TP&L's annual expenditures for constructing generating plants, transmission lines and other facilities skyrocketed from $98 million in 1970 to $261 million in 1976. The cost of fuels required to generate electricity rose from $26 million in 1970 to $186 million in 1976...a 615% increase.

Texas Power & Light is doing everything possible to hold down the price of electricity, but the mounting pressures of inflation leave us no choice...we must ask our customers to pay more for the electricity they use.

Kubiak Raps Legislature

Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale said Friday that the Texas House of Representatives should be given some kind of award for continuing its history of neglecting public school teachers, and therefore, the future education of Texans for many years to come.

"I propose the House -- and the Senate if it goes along -- award itself the 'Golden Goose' trophy, given for continuing the past legislative tradition of benign neglect for public education," Kubiak said. "The Big Bird this session is specifically in tribute of the failure of my colleagues to get up and vote salary increases that even nearly stays up with increases in the cost of living."

Kubiak said he was all for HB 1597 -- "precious little, as it may be" -- which has been adopted by a Public Education Subcommittee and will be considered by the full House Education panel. HB 1597 rewards teachers with about a $263 million pay raise over the next two years with emphasis on the experienced teacher group. "By golly this Legislature's consistent," Kubiak noted. "We've got a lot of experience in the old band-aid approach to financing public education and there's nothing new in this session's work."

Although Texas teacher salaries were given a strong boost by the last Legislature, the consumer price index galloped even further ahead, thus pushing teachers' average salaries from 25th in the U.S. back to 32nd.

Kubiak pointed out that Texas teachers have actually lost purchasing power in some recent years, in spite of salary increases granted by the Legislature.

Unwary Gardener Can Suffer Insecticide Ills

Are the bugs eating up your garden?

Most insects can be knocked out with sprays, powders and other poisons, but the unwary gardener sometimes can suffer from the effects of the bug sprays too.

Some tips on use of insecticides are offered by the American Medical Association.

*Read the directions on the container carefully -- and follow them. The manufacturer spells out the proper usage and safety precautions.

*If the directions call for rubber gloves, protective clothing or goggles, leave this one for the experts and use a less potent poison.

*Store the insecticide in its original container, with original label, in a safe, locked compartment, away from children and pets.

*Destroy empty containers immediately.

*Apply downwind, to avoid inhaling sprays and dusts. Stay out of freshly sprayed areas the rest of the day.

*Do not smoke while spraying or dusting. Some of the chemicals are flammable. And you might inhale poisons along with the smoke.

*If chemicals are spilled on the skin, wash immediately and thoroughly.

*Cover bird baths, dog dishes and fish pools before spraying. Pour left over spray down a drain or into the soil. Don't leave it around in pans or pails.

In case of accident, follow the directions on the container. If in doubt, call your physician.

WHAT WILL YOU NEED TO KEEP THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS TURNING IN YOUR COMMUNITY?

Communities that have built a strong, healthy economy know what they must have to keep the wheels of progress turning in the years ahead. Although each community is different, the basic requirements will be the same: A labor force known for its productivity. Municipal water supplies that can outlast a drought. A good transportation network. Diversification of industry, just to be on safer ground. Cultural and recreational attractions. Favorable tax structures. Strong leadership.

And energy to power assembly lines. Energy to heat, cool, process foods, lift, spin, dry, pump, drill, press, shape, compute or to use however industry needs it to create products that create jobs.

Meet the Changing Times.

The cheap and abundant energy available here in years past is one reason this area emerged from the recent recessions with one of the strongest economies you'll find in the nation. Few others have a business outlook as optimistic or an employment level as high.

The days of cheap energy are gone, of course. The cost of producing and distributing energy of almost every type has increased dramatically. This, with the demand that exists for energy, has forced a sharp increase in the prices that you and people everywhere are having to pay for it.

But the availability of an abundance of energy to keep the wheels of progress turning in this area still holds true.

You Can Have What You Need.

Natural gas, for example. Lone Star's pipeline system now extends into basins that contain 50% of the remaining onshore gas reserves in the United States. And this puts us in an excellent position to buy enough new gas reserves to last all of our customers for many decades.

Securing these reserves will be essential to the future of the communities served by Lone Star. Because gas not only meets your energy requirements directly, but indirectly as the primary fuel for generating most of the electric power you use.

The new gas will cost more, and Lone Star will have to recover the actual cost of it on a timely basis. A bargain, even so? Yes. Because these long-term supplies will help your community build job security through business growth.

And that's a bargain in anybody's economy.

Lone Star Gas Company
Working energetically for your area's future.

NEWS OF BOOKS

Plain Talk

It has been estimated that there are about 50,000 formal speeches given in the United States each year and though you may only occasionally be called on to make one, the chances are you will probably hear one or two this year.

Whether you are just required to make an occasional speech, or are a regular speaker, or just someone interested in the proper and economical use of language, a book that is often recommended as a useful guide is now available. It is called THE SPEECH WRITING GUIDE by James J. Welsh.

Mr. Welsh, a public relations executive, intended his book as a practical reference tool for writing a worthwhile speech - a speech noted for clarity, unity and economy and one that has something to say to an audience. The book also includes chapters on writing a lean speech and the importance of reference material. Guides for speech delivery are also included.

The book is available at your bookstore or by writing to the publisher, John Wiley & Sons, 605 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.
